

CHASING MIRACLES

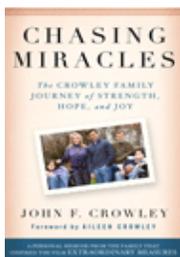

Featuring John F. Crowley,
Inspiration for major motion picture "Extraordinary Measures"
Presented by East Brunswick Special Education PTA

NEVER, NEVER, NEVER QUIT

"We hope that others can be inspired and learn and live a better life, from all that our family has witnessed, lived, and come to understand. It's a life full of strength, hope, and joy."

John F. Crowley

Join us for this very special, inspirational and informative evening!!

A personal memoir from the family that inspired the film Extraordinary Measures, starring Brendan Fraser, Harrison Ford, and Keri Russell - a father's story of his determination to save the lives of his two youngest children born with a rare genetic disorder and finding hope, strength, and joy despite extraordinary challenges.

JOHN F. CROWLEY is an American businessman and social entrepreneur. The son of a New Jersey cop, who died on duty when John was 7 years old, he has earned degrees from Georgetown University, Notre Dame Law School and the Harvard Business School. He worked for Bristol-Myers Squibb before leaving in March 2000 to lead a start-up biotech company searching for a cure for Pompe disease, the rare genetic disorder that afflicts his two youngest children. Eighteen months later, the company was sold for well over $100 million and ultimately contributed toward developing the treatment that saved his children's lives.

Crowley is currently the President and CEO of Amicus Therapeutics, a publicly held biopharmaceutical company working on the development of drugs to treat a range of human genetic diseases and diseases of neurodegeneration.

A widely acclaimed public speaker, he also serves on the board of the National Make-A-Wish Foundation and is a commissioned officer in the U.S. Navy Reserve, assigned to the U.S. Special Operations Command.

John and his wife, Aileen, live in Princeton, New Jersey, with their two sons, John, Jr. and Patrick, and their daughter, Megan. Their family website is www.crowleyfamily5.com
